

INVITATION TO THE STRATEGIC RISK LEADERSHIP CONVERSATIONS ON HIGHER EDUCATION: (STRLC-HE)

02-03 September 2021

The collective DUT institutional commitment to the aspiration of a deepened risk culture remains an important priority. Informed by our natural-optimist posture, we are convinced that through the exchange of perspectives and/or ideas, such aspiration should cross-pollinate across the broader HE sector – as well as with industry. As such, committed to our decision to host the Strategic Risk Leadership Conversations in Higher Education (SRLC-HE), which had to be postponed from last December, we have now decided on a new date of 2-3 September 2021.

It is in this context then, that I am formally extending an invitation for your participation at our risk conference proceedings, this coming September. Specifically, as one of our esteemed delegates, through your attendance you will essentially be interacting – albeit virtually – with a myriad of thought leadership practitioners from a broad spectrum in terms of their background, experience and unique industry/sector expertise.

Theme: Marrying the Science of Excellence with the Art of Risk (Leadership)
Venue: Virtual
Date: September 02nd-03rd 2021

Should you be comfortable with providing us with your physical address where you will be located during the proceedings, then we will ensure that you receive the delegate gift bag, as would have been the case if the conference were held in-person.

A copy of our Programme for the two days, together with the Concept Note on the conference itself, is available on our university website, which could also be reached through the following link

We look forward to welcoming and hosting you.

Sincerely,

Prof Sibusiso Moyo
